Glamor For Grower; U. S. Marines Rushed Irish Potato Loses Price Support Cut

By KARL BAUMAN

The potato won't be supported in the manner to which it has become accustomed. Not by onethird, in fact.

Instead of the 90 per cent of parity guarantee of recent years, growers in 1949 will be assured by the government of getting only 60 per cent of the theoretical 'fair to everyone" price.

And to be certain of even that of the council, has been working much, the growers must not plant more potatoes than they are told. Supporting potato prices has cost the government dearly. So far this year the bill amounts to about $100,000,000, compared with the previous high of nearly $91,000,-000,000 in 1946. Last year's bill was $39.500,000.

Brannan also set a goal of 1 938,300 acres of potatoes for next year. This is about 20,000 acres below this year's planting.

Each state was assigned a goal grower, will get one. To be eligible for price support, a farmer must not exceed his individual goal. So far this year, the government has bought about 60,500,000 bushels of potatoes at an average of around $1.45 a bushel. The actual loss amounted to more than that figure out, however. That is because the government tries to put the potatoes to some use, rather than destroying them. So it sells them to commercial alcohol plants-but the price is so low the government has to dig down still deeper and pay part of the freight costs to the plants.

The state highway department announced today that it had just completed installing electric grids under two 500-foot sections of M-102 (Eight-Mile Road) west of Ferndale.

The Ferndale site was selected as ideal to try out the system. The road gets an average amount of use, but most important, one side of the divided highway is concrete pavement and the other has been resurfaced with black-Thus engineers can watch the effect of the system on the two types of pavement being used in Michigan highways.

No Danger of Shock

Thermostatic controls have been installed which will maintain the temperature of the surface of the road at 35 degrees throughout the winter.

Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler said that if the experiment proves practical it would prove far less expensive than the present methods of clearing highays during the winter.

The cost of electrical equipment for the 1,000-foot test section came to about $2,500, he reported. He added, however, it would be far less expensive large-scale installations.

Engineers estimate that electricity costs for operating the test section will come to about 75 cents an hour. This installation maintenance cost, Zeigler said, would be far lower than present costs of maintaining snow removal equipment, depreciation, fuel for the huge motors, chloride to melt the ice and personnel to man the snow removing machines. Highway department engineers emphasized that there was no danger of electric shock to persons walking across the heated road. Only 75 volts are used, they pointed out, and the electricitycarrying grids are buried in con-

City Managers

CITY MANAGER trouble is noted again in newspaper stories from Alma and

At Flint, the election of new members of the commission was followed by the ousting of F. R. Buechner, who had been serving as city manager just a few months. Buechner years ago was city manager at Gladstone, and later held similar positions at Superior, Wis., and Hamilton, O.

At Alma, City Manager William J. Lanterman was dismissed last week by the commission, which charged incompetence and neglect of duty. Lanterman denies the charge, and his supporters began circulating recall petitions against the mayor and two members of the commission.

Flint long has been a hotbed of municipal politics, making it difficult for even the manager system of government to function effectively. Party politics, mixed up with the county and state brand of skullduggery, is not good.

The manager plan needs the right political climate to bring its best results. The community must want good government and clearly understand the principles of are interested in merely serving the com- After citing figures, this agency says: administrative job possible.

Fur Harvest Under Way

ONCE A YEAR an industry that has grown to be an important part of the economic life of Delta county commands public interest. We are referring to the fur industry and call attention to it at this time because the annual harvest of ranch produced fur pelts is now under way.

The production of silver fox furs has hit the skids because of Milady's changing fashions. Long haired furs, such as the silver fox, are temporaritly out of vogue and the emphasis now is on the short haired furs, such as mink. As a result, the fox industry is in the doldrums but the production of mink is on the increase. Prices of mink pelts are expected to be on their work. The value of the mink industry in Delta county, even with reduced prices, is considerably in excess of a quarter of a million dollars. The Upper Peninsula of Michigan is particularly well suited for fur production and Northern Michigan pelts are heralded as among the finest in the world.

Hunting Violations

MICHIGAN'S CONSERVATION LAWS permit a youth under the age of 17 to hunt deer but such youngsters, 14 to 17, must be accompanied by a parent or guardian. The purpose of this provision is to encourage parental supervision of young ume. nunters so that these youths can be taught he rules of hunting safety.

Unfortunately, the law is being flouted and every year finds an increasing number of minors hunting unaccompanied by their parents. Some encouragement of this is given by schools that close classes entirey for the opening days of the deer season. It should be noted that the closing of classes is not confined to upper grades, but even to elementary grades as well. All students are freed from classes with the natural result that many minors do go huntng, a large percentage of them unaccompanied by an adult.

Washington, Only one group of people since Nov. 2 have redder faces than the pollsters-the big businessmen who had feathered their nests with Dewey's friends. Take, for instance, the sad case of de-

Pearson tion in winning and dinng various prospective members of the Dewey cabinet.

Mr. Rosenstiel's motto is to leave no stone unturned. He is a successful businessman and he did not become one by accident. He believes in looking ahead. Therefore, not long before election, he looked ahead and retained Herbert Brownell, campaign manager for Mr. Dewey, as

Looking still further ahead, he also retained as his public relations counsellor Carl Byoir, a pro-Republican gentleman with piplines into the Deweyites.

Then to make sure his position with the new administration was secure he invited Dewey to go yachting with him right after the election to get a little post-election rest. Dewey was dated up for a vacation with Roger Strauss of American Smelting and Refining, so Rosenstiel took the next best. He invited Dewey's right-hand man, Paul Lockwood, to go yachting.

Paul accepted. Both Rosenstiel and Lockwood are entertaining gentlemen, but neither felt much lik entertaining the other on that post-election trip.

Student Travels 8,000 Miles To His Classes

Kent, O.—(NEA)—Wayne Wendell Wilkin's big problem in getting his post-war college degree is distance. He has to travel 8400 miles each week to attend classes.

Anxious to become an airlines pilot in 1940, Wilkin left Kent
State University during his senior year to attend an aeronautical school. He got his pilot's license but then came the war, transport duty and later a job as skipper with the KLM Dutch Airlines. His first opportunity to return to Kent for his degree came this year when he was able to sandwich in classes between his regular overseas runs. A change to any other school would have meant the loss of credits and an-

Here's the way Wilkin works it: His airline flight is from New York to the Netherlands. On Saturday his Constellation leaves New York at 9:30 a. m. for the 17½-hour hop to Amsterdam Monday night he begins the return trip, landing at LaGuardia Field Tuesday at 11 a.m. After a little rest and a change of clothing he's back in a plane, but this time as a passenger heading

A good night's rest and he's ready for his first class Wednesday morning. His school week ends on Friday and that same night he is back in New York and briefed for his airlines flight to Amsterdam the next day.

This may seem like a gruelling schedule," says the 30-year- | fies as the champion old bachelor, "but I find it the simplest way to get my degree. It actually has its advantages.

The advantages Wilkin refers to to devote to studying.

"There is a four-hour run be-tween New York and Gander, Newfoundland, when I don't have to navigate. I study then and ments to $1.25 compared with 75 turn the ship over to the co-pilot." Wilkin also gets in more book time as a passenger between Akron and New York and on Wednesday and Thursday nights at Wilkin is preparing for the day when his flying career is over. He will receive a degree in business administration and then plans to attend Columbia next fall for a master's degree in international economics, rail and air transportation, and business organization. Wilkin's flights for the Army and the airlines have piled up an enviable 1,300,000 miles in the air as pilot. He has crossed the At-

AIR POLLUTION BIG PROBLEM

Clean-Up In Industrial Areas Needed

Washington, (SS)-Here's a national health protection job for p. m. the new Congress and the next administration: A clean-up of the air in industrial areas, so as to in which industrial fumes held by made many others ill.

The Donora town council requested federal aid. But the federal health service cannot move into such situations as rapidly as might be either expected or helpful because it must wait for a request from State Health Departments. In this instance, electionday closing of state offices at Harrisburg, Pa., delayed by at least a day the aid the federal health service can give.

The danger is over in Donora now that the fog has been dis- home of the former's sister, Mrs. pelled, and the same combination Joe Farley. of fog and no wind may not hap-pen again in years. Even if it did, prevented if the industry spent a good deal of money to prevent release of dangerous fumes into the Donora is not alone in its air pollution danger. Los Angeles residents go about with inflamed eyes and sore throats much of the time because of air pollution from the industries in and around the city. Other industrial regions face much the same problems. St. Louis is a notable example of a city that cleaned up its air, with resultant health benefits to its citizens. But while many cities have ordinances for control of air pollution and for smoke abatement, almost no state has any such legislation.

The problem is big enough, in the opinion of Dr. J. G. Townsend, head of the industrial hygiene division of the U.S. Public Health Service, to warrant more attention on the federal level.

Beethoven was living in Heiligenstadt, Germany, when he wrote this, in 1807. He went to this small German community, unhappy and miserable, after breaking his engagement with the Countese Theresa Brunswick. This he had done because he learned that his increasing deafness was due to heritary factors, thus making marriage impossible. The first movement of this introduction, tells of the composer's heart-breaking sorrow in these months. But the second movement, recognized as one of the most beautiful in concert literature, is full of consolation and peace. Mixed emotional tones are

FAMILY WASH

Stubborn Blaze Fought More Than An Hour

The family washing, hung to dry in the basement of the Henry Harris home, at 141 South Third street, is blamed for a blaze which kept the fire department busy for more than an hour.

Mrs. Harris had hung up the washing about seven o'clock and left it to dry. What happened between that time and nine o'clock when the fire was discovered, is not known, but it is believed that one of the lines must have broken with the result that some of the wash was thrown against the fire box of the

Warned by dense clouds of smoke issuing up through the kitchen, the family attempted to get to the basement but found this impossible. The fire department, upon its arrival found entry into the basement extremely

Loss from the flames, with the exception of the loss of the washing, was not large. There was some damage where flames had worked their way upstairs to the kitchen. The rest of the damage to the property was mostly from smoke. The washing, while not fully determined, was heavy.

Shot-Damaged Insulator Cause Of Breakdown

Some thoughtless person with a high powered rifle shot at a highline insulator the other day-nobody knows when. The one who did it has perhaps dismissed the incident and forgotten about it. But that act has cost the Manistique Light and Power Company several hundred dollars in loss of current and in slowed down activities at the paper mill here.

During the early hours of Wednesday morning, the current went off between Manistique and Sault Ste. Marie. The local area was without lights for about forty minutes when the auxiliary generator at the paper mill here was put into commission. Current had to be furnished from this source until about two o'clock in the afternoon. This caused local operations at the mill to be slowed down. The loss in slowed down Refreshments were served later production, while an intangible by the following committee: Mrs.

Trouble shooters checking up on the break worked for many hours before they found the source of the trouble. The cause was a broken insulator which showed telltale marks from a bullet. The damage done by the shooting was not enough to cause a break under ordinary circumstances but during the storm of early Wednesday morning when the wind reached a high velocity something gave way.

The break occurred at Rexton. Many communities in the area without current several

ESCANABA DAILY PRESS "It Seems To Me"

BY HM WARD

Pardon me! I had an automobile accident last Sunday night. The car turned over-front somersault. I did, too.

Back on the job now after three days mending-alternately in a hot tub and in bed.

So, how does 'it seem to me' this morning That's a good question. I'm glad you brought it up.

Well, it still seems a bit dark out. The lights are low. Wonder why the others in the office here like the lights so low. How can they work in the dark? This idea of getting out an evening paper

Or maybe it just seems that way to me-foggy, semi-dusk. It

Now I know what it feels like to go 15 rounds with Joe Louis. Or just one, or two or three! Remember those news pictures of Max Schmeling after his second fight with Louis. Boy, did the Brown Bomber give the Master Race a going over in that one!

Remember those news pictures of Arturo Godoy, Tony Galento or any one of a hundred Joe Louis victims. If you do, you have a fair idea of what my head looked like and how I felt early this week.

No thanks, I never want to meet Joe Louis again. You can have him. Roxborough can have him. Chappie Blackburn can have him. Marva can have him. As soon as I can open my left eye to match the right, I'll look you straight in the eye and tell you you can have him.

S'funny! I always thought automobile accidents were something prevent congestion. that happened to other people. My insurance agent kept telling me that such is not the case. I'm inclined to believe him now, the cagey them in the space usually given little fellow. They can happen to you, too. to explaining what is going on in

Years ago, I should have learned not to argue with soft shoulders. They always win. This one did. And they threw in a culvert for good measure.

As a result, I'm walking now and thanking my lucky stars that I was alone and that I can still walk. Hate to tell you what the car looks like, but I know where you can pick up an over-sized accordion for a fairly reasonable price.

I could write a glowing testimonial today on the all-steel automobile body. If I hadn't been inside one last Sunday night, I couldn't write anything today.

And that convertible I used to promise myself overseas. As of 9 p. m., Eastern Standard time, last Sunday, that order is hereby cancelled

Glad to be back. But please don't pull that crack about how does the other fellow look. You'll just be forcing me to say that he looks a heck of a lot better than I do

"Indescribable Horror"

"No nation in the world can maintain an unreasonably high standard of living when nations which have no standard of living exist. That applies to the United States as well as any other nation, And no nation in the world can hope for peace as long as there are nearly 15,000,000 displaced persons in the world," Doctor Engstrom asserted.

He described conditions for these displaced persons as an "indescribable horror" and declared that no nation can afford to ignore these situations.

Doctor Engstrom, a graduate of Augustana college and Augustana Seminary, said that the people of America need to be awakened to the extreme importance of resettlement in war devastated

Women and Children

"The United States must accept a generous share of these war displaced persons, and the settlement of these problems is a double responsibility for both churches and the government of the United States," he declared.
